Our Year 11s are now entering their final term of lesson time before their exams, this really is the most vital part of their school career so far. Hegarty Maths—the final challenge!

As we are getting so close to the exams it is now essential that pupils are not only revising, but revising the right things to help them achieve success in the summer.

From Monday 14th January Maths teacher will work out exactly which area of maths your student needs to study more of every day and they will provide each pupil with a list of exactly which clips to watch and which questions to answer on Hegarty Maths. Y11 pupils should be spending at least 5 hours per week on Heagarty Maths and this daily homework will enable them to do this in an effective way.

Pupils will be able to access a computer room at school every evening 4-5pm so they don't need to worry about using up their precious data outside school!

If students fail to complete this homework they will be collected the following day to complete an after-school homework detention, as per the homework policy we already have.

It has never been more important for our students to be working hard and revising every evening, thank you for your support with this.

Saturday School and Prom—how to earn your ticket!

Y11 prom is a fantastic event each year for our Y11 students; a chance for them to celebrate and relax with peers for one final time as they reach the end of school life. However, it is essential that our students understand that attending prom is a privilege, not an automatic right.

Prom Points can be earned by attending Saturday School, session 7 and other revision events—pupils should speak to Mr Watson for more information about this scheme.

Update: 81 of our Y11 pupils are well on their way to collecting enough points to earn their invitation to the Prom! Well done to those 81.
